

The Rats Won't Leave the Ship (yet)

It's a safe bet that the sun won't set
When no one saw it rise today

The tide runs high against the black of the sky
And the clouds begin to party big way

I don't wanna wake up with a mouthful of rain
But I suppose I got nothing better to say

The rats don't leave the ship
The rats don't leave the ship
The rats won't leave the ship yet

The children go weeping down in their bunks
Some men are striking the sails

Some others they jump or fall over board
To say hello to the whales

I don't wanna wake up with thunder in my ears
But I don't listen to reason anyway

The rats don't leave the ship
The rats don't leave the ship
The rats won't leave the ship yet

It's the end of the show and the light bulbs they flicker
And the band plays a fairy well tune

The rats don't leave the ship
The rats don't leave the ship
The rats won't leave the ship yet
