

Sinking with stones tied to our feet

When we fell into the water
We didn't have much doubt
That we get out there safe
Soaking wet but still alive
Maybe hand in hand
I'd lick the salt off your eyebrows as we stumble
On castles made of sand

Guess we can make it to dry land
They left us in open water
And we begin to understand
We finally come to concede
We're sinking with stones tied to our feet

As the weights pull us down
We say hi to the fish that we meet on our way
We smile at them and they
Smile back happily
They know that we're in love
And we're sinking to stay
We're sinking to stay

Guess we can make it to dry land
They left us in open water
And we begin to understand
We finally come to concede
We're sinking with stones tied to our feet