

We're watching Peaky Blinders

Just by how you shake your blanket
I know you'll be passing out soon
And let me watch them pass away
One by one and two by two

And we're rushing through the seasons
And look, they're rushing to the shore
And by the rhythm of your blanket
You're not watching anymore

We're watching Peaky Blinders
All the time

I see them run for their lives
Someone just blew up a car
And I watch it from a distance
Behind a chocolate bar

We're watching Peaky Blinders
All the time
Hope that they never find us
