

King Of Drama

King of Drama,
Can you please step out and confess?
Just the top ten of your crimes
We don't need to know the details

I can't say I look through you
And I won't raise my voice, cause that's what you do

You still claim all the power
You still insist the lies you tell are all true

King of Drama,
If you look into the future
Do you see a grumpy dying man?
A post presidential creature

Who still claims all the power
Who still insists the lies he tells are all true

I can't say I look through you
And I won't raise my voice, cause that's what you do

I knew you were out of your mind
I'd rather see you cry instead of breathing
You're pouring out all those lies
How you think you'll get away with all those lies

I knew that you lost your mind
But who's gonna blame your mind
And friends for leaving you
You're pouring out all those lies
How you think you'll get away with all those lies
